Project goal

Create a coherent starter identity for a fictional ceramics studio that is preparing its first online collection.

Prices cover the listed scope only. Example amounts exclude taxes; this fictional example assumes no applicable tax. Optional additions require a separate approved quote.

Scope that is easy to discuss

A sample service scope

Two initial logo concepts; one selected direction developed into primary and secondary logos. Final handoff: editable SVG, print PDF and transparent PNG logos, RGB/CMYK colour values, type pairing with font links, three editable social tile layouts in PPTX and a two-page PDF style sheet.

State the boundaries

Naming, copywriting, photography, website building, printing, trademark clearance, paid fonts and stock assets are excluded. Only one logo direction is developed.

Define a revision round

Two rounds are included. A round is one consolidated written list of adjustments to the selected direction. A new concept, added tile, extra round or changed brief requires a written change quote before work proceeds.

Make changes explicit

The provider states the added deliverables, price and timing; the client approves the change in writing before added work starts. In this fictional example, one optional extra revision round is USD 90 and adds two business days. It is outside the USD 900 package total.

Use the wording as a starting point

Adapt quantities, file formats, review deadlines and payment triggers to your actual service. These are fictional examples from the kit, not pricing advice or legal terms. Check every amount manually and use your own appropriate service agreement.
